

Full Planting of Vines and Fruit Trees.

Now is the time to attend to the important matter of planting vines and fruit trees. A correspondent of the Rural World says:

The foliage vines are now nearly dead; on apples it may be removed with safety, and planting can be undertaken with advantage. Some think that if they plant by the first of January, it is full planting; but to this we take exception. The full benefit of full planting is only to be expected by being done in October or November. While the arguments that arise from the question of leisure, the condition of the soil, the condition of the plants, are all in favor of planting—still, much care and judgment are necessary in regard to soil and other circumstances. Attention must be given to the making of the holes. We must see that deep holes are not dug, so as to hold water, and have the roots standing in water ponds all winter. In planting, cut the broken roots off clean with a sharp knife. Trim the head in a symmetrical manner, and raise the soil to the stem of the vine, so as to steady it against the wind; the soil to be removed in the spring. With vines we operate in a similar manner, covering the cane, when cut off to the proper height, with three or four inches of earth. If instead of making holes for either trees or vines, a plow and sub-soiler can be run in furrows, back and forward to the proper depth, in the one way, then the other, and the plant set at the angle, it will, in many cases, avoid the danger of water resting around the root, as well as be more expeditiously performed. All our plants suffer much by being planted too late in the spring, the summer drought operating before the tree has formed the root-system.

The Horticulturist says that in planting this fall, all should remember that it is requisite to set the tree only just so deep as to enable it to stand; for we can place earth around it so as to protect it from heaving off the winter's frost, and as soon as spring opens, and the ground is leveled down, the roots will start and seek their appropriate depth. If we dig a deep hole, especially in hard clay soil, and fill it with good loam, and set our tree therein, we first invite the water there as into a cistern, and second, we cause a vigorous growth of roots until they reach the undisturbed clay, when a check is at once perceptible; and often an orchard stands from five to seven years without apparently making any progress. Remember, then, and plant your trees just so deep as to cover the roots, but no more; then earth up for a winter protection against frost for the first year, and dress down again to level in the spring.

Household Receipts.

CROUP.—Wring a linen cloth—cotton will do, but linen is preferable—out of cold water, fold it so as to make several thicknesses, and place it upon the child's throat and chest, then fold a dry flannel and wrap carefully over it. Warm the child's feet with hot stones if necessary, and cover with plenty of bed clothes, and let it go to sleep; you cannot perceive when it wakes that it has even a cold. It cures like a charm.

To Kill Warts.—The following is said never to fail, if properly applied: Make a strong steep, from red oak bark, in hot water; when cold, apply as convenient, the oftener the better. In a few days the wart will disappear.

Scrambled Eggs.—Put a teaspoonful of milk on to boil, put in a piece of butter the size of a walnut; salt and dredge in a little flour; have three eggs well beaten and stir them in quickly when it boils; stir till it is thickened, not curdled—it is much improved by being turned over buttered toast in a deep dish.

Scrub in the Head.—The following ointment must be used: Lard, two ounces; sulphuric acid, diluted, two drachms; Rub these together and anoint the head once a day. To restore the skin to a healthy condition, proper medicine should be taken a short time.

Receipts for Coloring.

The following valuable receipts for coloring we copy from Godey's Lady's Book, and hope some of our lady readers will give them a thorough trial:

To Dye Black.—Rusty nails or any rusty iron, boiled in vinegar, with a small bit of copperas, makes a good black.

To Dye Cotton Nankens.—Boil in a pall of lye, with a piece of copperas half as big as a hen's egg. This will color a fine nankens color which will never wash out; very useful for the linings of bed quilts, comforts, etc.

To Dye Cotton Green.—After coloring your cloth yellow, dip it in a strong dye made of magie bluing, then a strong alum water hot when you dip the cloth in. Color in tin.

To Dye Cotton Red.—One pound of cranwood, boiled in an iron kettle, will color three pounds of cotton cloth to a light red that will not fade; by letting it remain in the dye a day or two it will color darker, airing and heating occasionally.

To Dye Cotton Orange.—Prepare a lime water as for whitewash; the stronger the deeper the color. Pour off the water and boil; while boiling, dip in your cloth that you have already colored yellow. All the solutions should be cold, except the lime water.

To Dye Cotton Yellow.—For six pounds of cotton: First wet the goods in clear water; to the same quantity of water add nine ounces of sugar of lead, and to another quantity add six ounces of bicarbonate of potash; keep these solutions separate. Dip the goods in the sugar of lead water, then the potash, and the sugar of lead water again. Wring out and dry; rise in clear cold water.

A gentleman, while at breakfast at a certain hotel in Atlanta, was asked by a Federal officer whether the representative from his county had yet arrived. "Wait," replied the gentleman, "until I get through my breakfast, and I will go to the kitchen and see."

Teacher.—"If a man gave you a hundred dollars to keep for him, and died what would you do? Would you pray for him?"

CANDID FURTHER.—"No, sir; but I would pray for another like him."

An Iowa editor has taken his office to Iowa partnership, giving his reason, that "Steve has been too weak for small winter work, and he has paid, and we thought after he had been prostrated a short time he would understand that paying help was not so easy."

SAM. BROCKMAN'S
CARRIAGE, BUGGY AND WAGON REPOSITORY,
Franklin Street, CLARKSVILLE, TENN.

I would call the attention of my friends and the public to my large stock of Buggy, Carriage and Wagon work now on hand, direct from the factories of Busby, Little & Co. and E. Hayes & Co., Wheeling, Va., embracing all their various styles, from the finest Phaeton to a skeleton sulky, including their celebrated New Style Prince Albert Buggy, which for comfort, ease and convenience, stand at the head of all Buggies, and their Steel Tire Light work, for young men, fast driving, etc. I challenge the Buggy world for its superior.

In reference to workmanship, style, guarantee, etc., I will say that I have, during the last sixteen years, sold in Southern Kentucky and this State, over three hundred jobs of this work, and to those who have bought and used it, including the liveries men of this city, I would refer you, being willing that the work shall answer for itself. With this understanding, if you or your friends should buy any of this work, and by fair usage it fails to give satisfaction, you will confer a special favor on the manufacturer by calling on me and having it repaired by Baker & Bro., of this city, at their expense, or permit me to return your money, even if you are satisfied.

Prices as low as any first-class work in any western city.

SAM. BROCKMAN,
Sole Agent for Southern Kentucky and Middle Tennessee.

P. S.—I would caution my friends and the public against peddlers and irresponsible parties claiming to sell this work. The manufacturers have but one agency for Southern Kentucky and Middle Tennessee.
